To mark International Women's Day we are pleased to bring you this wonderful and inspiring event thanks to MAPS funding. This event is open to all genders and not restricted to females. We will be having a wonderful FREE lunch together and listen to some fantastic speakers as we explore how asbestos has affected women over the years, from Nellie Kershaw (1924) - the first female diagnosed with an asbestos related illness right the way through to today.

If you would like to attend this event, you can book your place by completing and returning the form below. Or you can send an email with your details or telephone. Need to know more? Please don't hesitate to get in contact for more information.
